UTILITY PATENT APPLICATION BIBLIOGRAPHY

COVETS

I Kathie Francis was sitting down and thinking to myself of how to make money to take care of myself, because I am disable . I started thinking back to my work place, and the things we needed to make work easier and that is when the idea came to me, and I call that idea COVETS. To make plastic coverings for the body , to protect ,bandages and etc. from liquids. It is to be made out of plastic thin and disposable and or thick reusable, clear plastic or slightly colored. I had to think of size and shape, which is to be from infant to adults in size, it is to be for the hand up the shoulder in different length and width, for the foot up to the high thigh in different length and width ,and for the torso chest to waist. There is to be an opening at the top of the hand and foot COVETS and for the torso an opening at the top and bottom. All of this thinking was done in Florida in the day and evening time starting in May of the year 2002, when I had thought of other invention. I continued thinking on how it would open and close and all other aspects of it. In March of 2003 I had saved enough money to send off for a provisional patent. I started calling companies after I received my paper work from the patent office , to see if they would be able to produce the COVETS. This is the name of some of the companies : NINA PLASTIC on 08/15/03 ,AMERICAN PLASTIC on 08/08/03 and etc., I have been working on this from 05/03/02 and even now with this paper work on 03/17/04.
